

From: Governor Cooper's Press Office [govpress@nc.gov]
Sent: 9/22/2017 3:54:16 PM
To: Sullivan, Caroline F [/o=ExchangeLabs/ou=Exchange Administrative Group (FYDIBOHF23SPDLT)/cn=Recipients/cn=e958e4915db54c409dc6c25668ac13eb-cfsullivan1]
Subject: Weekly Newsletter: September 22, 2017

WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

OFFICE OF GOVERNOR ROY COOPER

Highlights of the Week

Helping Communities Recover from Hurricane Matthew

On Thursday, Gov. Cooper traveled to Fair Bluff to thank students and staff of Columbus Career and College Academy (CCCA) for their volunteerism during and after Hurricane Matthew. Amid the devastation from Matthew, CCCA acted as a Red Cross emergency shelter, taking in neighbors affected by the hurricane. The governor also visited residents at a housing complex that recently reopened after being severely damaged in Hurricane Matthew.

"Help can't come quick enough for those who have been left homeless from a hurricane," Cooper said. "The recovery process is long and we still have a lot more work to do. We need to get people back into their former homes or into new, safer homes."

Read more about the governor's hurricane recovery visit here.

6 Million Meals for Meals on Wheels

On Wednesday, Gov. Cooper and First Lady Kristin Cooper delivered the 6 millionth meal with the Meals on Wheels program in Winston-Salem. The governor and first lady met with Rosalie Young, a Meals on Wheels recipient, and talked with her about the importance of the program to seniors across North Carolina. Gov. Cooper also recognized the hard work of the many volunteers who fight hunger statewide.

"These volunteers knock on people's doors and they visit them and deliver nutrition," Gov. Cooper said. "But they offer kindness and friendship and companionship and deliver a message on behalf of this community that we care about you."

Read more about Gov. Cooper's Meals on Wheels visit here.

Protecting Our Drinking Water

On Thursday, Gov. Cooper vetoed House Bill 56, arguing that the legislation only symbolically addresses unregulated, emerging contaminants in North Carolina's drinking water. HB 56 does not provide resources to state agencies whose mission is to protect drinking water from illegal chemicals. The bill also unduly rolls back environmental protections regarding landfills, river basins and beaches.

"This cynical legislation fails to address the concerns of families in the Cape Fear region and does nothing to protect drinking water statewide going forward," said Gov. Cooper.

Read Gov. Cooper's full statement here.

NC Joins U.S. Climate Alliance

This week, Gov. Cooper announced that North Carolina will join the U.S. Climate Alliance, a bipartisan coalition currently made of 15 states that are committed to reducing their share of U.S. greenhouse gas emissions.

"Clean air and a healthy environment are vital for a strong economy and a healthier future," Gov. Cooper said. "So much of North Carolina's economy relies on protecting our treasured natural resources, and I'm committed to maintaining the quality of their air we breathe for generations to come."

This is just the latest action taken by the Cooper Administration to help combat climate change. Gov. Cooper recently signed into law House Bill 589, Competitive Energy Solutions for North Carolina, which will roughly double North Carolina's solar generation over the next four years.

Learn more about North Carolina's role in the U.S. Climate Alliance here.

Wishing Livingstone College Students Well at Fall Convocation

On Friday, Gov. Cooper traveled to Salisbury to deliver a fall convocation address to students and faculty at Livingstone College, a historically black college. During his remarks, the governor encouraged students set intentions for the upcoming schoolyear and the years to follow.

"Living with purpose means something different for every person," Gov. Cooper said. "I'd like to share with you what living a life of purpose means to me, and then I'd like to challenge you to think about what it means to you."

Photo of the Week

WINSTON-SALEM JOURNAL

September 25, 2017 $1.00 THURSDAY www.wsj.com

◀ Festival puts the diversity of Hispanic cultures on display / reish

Dewey's introducing line of six cookies for wholesale market / A4

Maria destroys homes, triggers flooding

Category 4 hurricane knocks out power all across Puerto Rico

BY JAMES K. HAMIL
Winston-Salem, N.C. — The magnitude 8.9 earthquake on the Caribbean island of Puerto Rico on Sept. 19, 2017, triggered a series of powerful hurricanes that have killed at least 29 people and injured more than 100. The hurricane, which is the strongest in the Caribbean since 1995, is the first to hit the island since 1995.

Forecasters expect the storm to hit the Caribbean coast of the United States on Sept. 20, with the eye of the storm hitting the coast of Florida. The storm is expected to bring heavy rain and flooding to the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Local family awaits word on Maria's damage to home

BY JAMES K. HAMIL
Winston-Salem, N.C. — A family in Winston-Salem is waiting for news about the damage to their home in Puerto Rico. The family, which has been in the area for many years, is hoping to return home soon. The hurricane has caused significant damage to the area, and the family is concerned about the safety of their home.

Quake relief push begins

Local groups plan to send water, food and other vital aid

BY JAMES K. HAMIL
Winston-Salem, N.C. — Local groups in Winston-Salem are planning to send relief aid to the victims of the earthquake in Puerto Rico. The groups, which include the Winston-Salem Community Center and the Winston-Salem Food Bank, are hoping to provide the victims with the food and water they need to survive.

The groups are also planning to send medical supplies and other items that are needed in the area. The earthquake has caused significant damage to the area, and the groups are concerned about the safety of the victims. The groups are hoping to provide the victims with the aid they need to survive.

Local relief group plans to send water, food and other vital aid.

The groups are also planning to send medical supplies and other items that are needed in the area. The earthquake has caused significant damage to the area, and the groups are concerned about the safety of the victims. The groups are hoping to provide the victims with the aid they need to survive.

The groups are also planning to send medical supplies and other items that are needed in the area. The earthquake has caused significant damage to the area, and the groups are concerned about the safety of the victims. The groups are hoping to provide the victims with the aid they need to survive.

6 million meals

Gov. Roy Cooper (right) and his wife, Betty, deliver the official 6 million-meal milestone to the program on Sept. 25, 2017.

Cooper honors Senior Services' Meals on Wheels as program hits milestone

BY JAMES K. HAMIL
Winston-Salem, N.C. — Gov. Roy Cooper is honoring the Senior Services' Meals on Wheels program for reaching a milestone of 6 million meals served.

The program, which has been operating since 1978, has served more than 6 million meals to the elderly and disabled in the state. The program is a vital part of the state's social service system, and the governor is proud to honor the program for its achievements.

The program is a vital part of the state's social service system, and the governor is proud to honor the program for its achievements. The program is a vital part of the state's social service system, and the governor is proud to honor the program for its achievements.

The program is a vital part of the state's social service system, and the governor is proud to honor the program for its achievements. The program is a vital part of the state's social service system, and the governor is proud to honor the program for its achievements.

The program is a vital part of the state's social service system, and the governor is proud to honor the program for its achievements. The program is a vital part of the state's social service system, and the governor is proud to honor the program for its achievements.

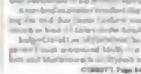

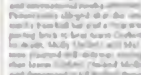

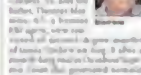

The Governor and his wife, Betty, deliver the official 6 million-meal milestone to the program on Sept. 25, 2017.

Killers: Corbett at fault in death

Irish brother-in-law's wife, father-in-law respond to wrongful-death lawsuit

BY JAMES K. HAMIL
Winston-Salem, N.C. — The Irish brother-in-law of a man who was killed in a car accident is suing the state of Massachusetts for wrongful death.

The lawsuit, which was filed in the state court, alleges that the state of Massachusetts was negligent in its handling of the case. The brother-in-law is seeking compensation for the death of his brother-in-law.

Tweet of the Week

Governor Roy Cooper  @NC_Governor · Sep 19
Gov. Cooper on #GrahamCassidy Health Care Legislation:

OFFICE OF GOVERNOR
ROY COOPER

The latest proposal to repeal the Affordable Care Act may be even worse than previous proposals: raising premiums, weakening protections for people with pre-existing conditions, and slashing over $1 billion from North Carolina's Medicaid program. North Carolina's middle-class families will be worse off if this passes.

Senate Republicans in Washington must work with Democrats to reach a bipartisan solution that expands health care coverage and makes it better.

 34  247  339

Follow us online

Governor.nc.gov

Facebook • Twitter • Instagram • Flickr

This message sent to caroline.sullivan@nc.gov from govpress@nc.gov

Governor Cooper's Press Office
Governor Cooper's Press Office
116 West Jones St.
Raleigh, NC 27603

Unsubscribe

Email correspondence to and from this address may be subject to the North Carolina Public Records Law and may be disclosed to third parties by an authorized state official.